

Dear Young Europeans,

Germany has just celebrated its 20th anniversary of reunification. Big steps have been made on European level over the last five decades to guarantee peace and freedom.

Besides all political efforts to create legal frameworks for specific areas like agriculture, industry and the way of handling migration, we more than ever need a spirit and soul for Europe.

I here strongly believe in the commitment of our citizens and I particularly emphasise the role of young people.

“Young ideas for Europe” this is what we need, more than ever. Now it is your turn!

Yours faithfully,

Norbert Glante
